

Namib Naukluft Park

The Namib Naukluft Park is the fourth largest park in Africa and is situated on the south-western coast of Namibia, containing the Naukluft Mountains and the southern Namib Desert. Within the confines of wind driven and star shaped red dunes of some 325 metres in some places, lies a clay pan called Sossusvlei. This area has over the years become a top travel destination for visitors and the monumental dunes are a sought after topic for photographers and artists. Formed by strong multi-directional winds, the dunes are at their highest and most spectacular where the west flowing Tsauchab River empties itself into the vlei. The warm tints of the sand, ranging from apricot to orange, red and maroon, contrast vividly with the dazzling white surfaces of the large deflationary clay pans at their base. One of these, referred to as Dead Pan or Vlei, is a large ghostly expanse of dried white clay, punctuated by skeletons of ancient camel-thorn trees, carbon-dated as being between 500 and 600 years old.

Sossus Dune Lodge

Overlooking the vast expanse of the Namib Desert with its towering dunes, shimmering pans and an endless sea of sand – Sossus Dune Lodge offers comfort and peace of mind.

Sesriem Camp Site

Still the most popular way to experience the Namib, Sesriem provides camp sites situated in the shade of a camel-thorn tree. The Namib beckons from here with Sesriem Canyon, Elim Dune, Dune 45 and Sossusvlei all within reach.

Naukluft Camp Site

Nestled in the foothills of the formidable cliffs of the Naukluft mountains, Naukluft camp site is the perfect base for undertaking two of Africa's most sought after and gruelling desert adventures: the Naukluft 4x4 Track and the 160km Naukluft hiking trail – meandering through cosmic gravel plains, towering mountain ranges and deep sculptured canyons.
