

Waterberg Plateau Park

Elevating high above the plains of central Namibia, Waterberg Plateau Park is a particularly prominent location. The plateau is ecologically diverse and rich, and has over 200 different species of bird with some rare species of small antelope on the lower hills of the mountain. Geologically, the oldest rock stratum is over 850 million years old and dinosaurs tracks were left there some 200 million years ago.

Waterberg Camp

Waterberg Camp nestles along the base of the cliffs of the Waterberg Plateau, inside the Waterberg Plateau National Park. It towers some 200 metres above the surrounding landscape, and the plateau with its sheer cliffs and fascinating rock formations serves as a breeding area for endangered animals species.
